

Virginia Artist and Fishing Instructor Tye Krueger Accepts Dream Job in Oregon

Tye Krueger, manager of the Orvis Store in Richmond and regional artist known for his realistic studies of game fish and fishing, will soon be working over western waters. Beginning May 1, he will assume his new duties as head fly-fishing instructor at the Orvis Corporate Fly Fishing School in Bend, Oregon. This is currently the only official Orvis fly-fishing school on the West Coast. Krueger regards his new position as “an honor and immense privilege—a dream job, really.” His online art and contact remains www.outdoorimpressions.com.